In the Crimea, however, it was conceded the Nazis have launched a new attack on the great Soviet naval base at Sevastopol.

With the Russian lines straightened out, authorities said, any further German withdrawals will enable the Russians to create penetrative salients.

Chinese in Daring Raid

Chungking—A daring Chinese army raid on Kowloon, from which the Japanese launched their artillery bombardment and finally their invasion of Hong-Kong, was revealed today by the Kwantung headquarters.

The Chinese on Friday entered Sunchum, which borders on Kowloon, and from there made swift sorties into that Japanese base, destroying the outer defenses and setting fire to ammunition dumps. They were forced into retreat when Japanese reinforcements arrived, but fierce fighting is reported still raging to the north of Sunchum.

A communique issued today said that 10,000 Japanese troops have launched an offensive against Southeastern Shansi Province.

Japs Attack Island of Mindanao

Manila—Japanese landing forces attacked the Southern Philippine Island of Mindanao today while Nipponese planes unleashed a new but apparently unsuccessful attack on Nichols Air Field and on the outskirts of the city itself.

Several sticks of bombs fell on the edge of Manila in the afternoon following the Nichols Field attack.

Heavy fighting raged on Mindanao after the Japanese landed in force at Davao, some 630 miles southeast of Manila.

The new Japanese air attack was announced by an American Army spokesman at 4 p. m.

PERKASPIE, Dec. 20.—Today a check will be issued for something more than $6,000 and made payable to the Treasury Department of the United States. The check represents a day's earnings of each of the 580 employees of the Royal Pants Company, here, plus an equal sum by the firm. It is the plant's method of saying, "Uncle Sam, we're with you in your all-out efforts to crush Dictators who would enslave the world." The plan to donate a day's earnings originated in the minds of several employees who expressed their sentiments to other employees. The "idea" was highly infectious and within an hour it was unanimously decided that the wages earned on Friday, December 19, would be donated to the United States as the employees' Christmas gift to its Government in its time of trial. Frank deGanahl, president of Fleetwings, Inc., manufacturers of aircraft and aircraft parts, told members of the Fleetwings organization last night at their annual Christmas party, that since December, 1939, the production of Fleetwings has increased 1500%, and that "for 1942 and until the end of the emergency, Fleetwings' efforts and results will be doubled and tripled again, and maintained at the very maximum it is humanly possible to attain."

Mr. deGanahl's statement follows: "This is the third year that I have had the pleasure of addressing you. In 1939 I told you that it had always been my ambition to be with an organization that functioned as a team, with every member of the organization a participant in the results of the team's work. In 1940 I pointed out that we were in the midst, although few realized it, of a vitally serious emergency. Now we are in full-fledged war and the whole world is involved in a struggle that will end either in the victory of the democratic nations or our obliteration.

"Using December 1939 as a base, you will, I think, find our following percentage increases of interest: Membership, 680%; production, 1500%;

Club on "P. D. Stands For Pennsylvania Dutch"

MUSICAL SELECTIONS

In a most colorful Yuletide setting, Travel Club members and their guests assembled yesterday afternoon, to enjoy in the club home a program that was most instructive and entertaining. The festive occasion was the annual Christmas party arranged by the club women.

Red electric candles, four feet tall, placed on either side of the American flag, graced the stage; and throughout the room a red, white and blue Christmas arrangement prevailed. Boughs of evergreen in the deep window were set off by Christmas balls in the national colors; and candles in the three shades were arranged throughout the room, surrounded by clusters of greens.

Club women and guests were received by the members of the hostess committee, and following the delightful program refreshments were served by the special social committee.

Group singing of Christmas carols opened the program following the welcome by president, Mrs. E. Linton Martin. A vocal trio consisting of Mrs. Charles I. Bowen, Mrs. John Moyer and Mrs. Scott Wetherill, led; with Miss Winifred V. Tracy as piano accompanist. Later in the afternoon Miss Tracy delighted with a Christmas number on the symphony harp.

Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Jr., introduced the speaker of the day, Miss Ann Hark, author of "Hex Marks the Spot," and other books and articles portraying life of the Pennsylvania Dutch. Miss Hark's address was titled "P. D. Stands for Pennsylvania Dutch." In telling something of the background of the Pennsylvania Dutch, Miss Hark told what a fine, worthwhile group of people they are. In mentioning the dialect used by them she said "It is a perfectly good dialect brought to this country by a group who came over in the 17th century. It is not a conglomeration as many people think." She mentioned the humor caused by the difficulty of many of them with the English language, then gave English and Pennsylvania Dutch versions of a nursery rhyme.

CHRISTMAS FOREVER

What kind of Christmas will this one be? How can the Yuletide spirit survive in a world now aflame with war from pole to pole and round the equator?

These are natural questions—but they have an answer. Americans owe it to the men in uniform and to themselves to keep intact the simple customs of Christmas and to cultivate good cheer along with resolution. Some of the excesses of the season could and should be dispensed with. There is no need for show now; it is the essence that counts.

It is possible to be gay without carousing. This is a time to exchange greetings and presents without worrying over "duty" gifts and how much should be spent on Aunt Lulu or old Mr. So-and-So. This year presents should come from the heart or not at all.

Even though the times are far from normal, Christmas can still be celebrated as a genuine American holiday. It is unthinkable that Hitler or anyone else can scare Americans out of the traditional observances that make Christmas the favorite festival for young and old. In the midst of a great war, Americans should resolve to go about their affairs with heads held high, spirits unflagging.

There are important things to do, and they must be done—but interludes of fun and sociability are also necessary. Christmas is one of those interludes, a season of joy and seriousness combined.

INTERALLIED COMMAND

More than three-fourths of the last war had passed before Britain and France, when joined by America, finally decided to create an interallied command. Yet the Pacific war was not a week old before there were statements from Moscow, London and Washington looking toward establishment of military co-ordination.

While liaison is more necessary in this World War than in the last one, the radio and the airplane also make it easier. It certainly will be effected. Until there is evidence to the contrary, it may logically be expected, moreover, that Russia will continue in the war in full force. No bolshevik leader would dare to make peace with the Nazis now. No Nazi occupation of the Ukraine would be tolerated. Russia stands only to gain by the freeing of Japan from her jingo rulers.

If a visible interallied high command is not immediately announced, there will be no cause for worry. The British ambassador to Washington—Lord Halifax—has retained his post in the British cabinet although serving over here. He can speak with cabinet authority when consulted at any time in Washington. Maxim Litvinov, too, has unusual powers. He has been within the very shadow of the purple guillotine. All of his friends were "liquidated" by the OGPU. Yet Stalin spared him for the inevitable day when German treachery would turn on Russia, and he would be needed as the widely trusted envoy to the West.

The machinery for Allied co-ordination already exists. It will be inevitable, and it will be a true co-operation and not a dictation by one power as is Germany's control of Japan, Italy, Vichy and its other stooges.

Hitler's Goebbels now predicts that it will be a long war, he hopes,

"THURSDAY'S CHILD" by VERA BROWN

FROM THE OLD RHYME: "THURSDAY'S CHILD HAS FAR TO GO"

SYNOPSIS

Life to lovely, young Leslie (Sonny) Richardson was just drudgery in her foster-father's lunchroom on the Dixie Highway near Monroe, Michigan. She longed for the day when she could get away from it all. So, when opportunity in the form of Tom Hollister, young college student and scion of a wealthy New York family, appears, she grasps it. Tom and his friend, Jamie Hicks, had been touring in a trailer. One night, they take Sonny to a dance and as she is about to return home, she stuns them with the announcement that she won't go back. Tom prevails upon her to change her mind but Richardson has locked the girl out, so the boys reluctantly agree to take her with them. Fearing Sonny's foster-father may have set the police on their trail, they head for the state line. In Bowling Green, Tom marries Sonny to outwit the law. Jamie is worried over the consequences when the Hollister family learns the news. He insists upon being dropped off at Akron. After four days of leisurely travel, the honeymooners arrive in New York State. The surrounding peace and quiet brought Sonny a contentment she had never known. But her happiness is short-lived for a state trooper suddenly appears and arrests them. In jail, Sonny meets Tom's brother, Kirk. His heart goes out to the pathetic figure in gingham with toil-worn hands and tear-redened eyes.

CHAPTER NINE

"You're Leslie," Kirk's voice was gentle. He sized up the girl. Not what he had expected, by any means. Younger. "I'm sorry this had to happen."

She couldn't answer him. "My father shouldn't have had the police pick you up. I told him that. I flew in as soon as I could." He tried to put her at her ease. "There are some things I want to ask you. Do you love my brother?"

Sonny raised her head for the first time. Something in Kirk's candid dark eyes made her answer truthfully: "I don't know."

"Do you want to stay married to him?"

"If Tom wants it."

Kirk smiled grimly. "You can understand that my parents are rather upset."

"Oh, yes."

Kirk, taken aback, did not know where to go from that point, but he plunged ahead: "We're willing to do anything. If you'll agree to an annulment, we'll see you are properly taken care of."

Sonny looked confused.

"I mean money, real money," Kirk said frankly.

"I don't want money," she declared. "I can work."

Kirk patted the girl's slim shoulder. He felt sorry for her.

"You see, we love Tom so much we don't want him to make a mistake. He's so impulsive. He's—"

"Will you agree to give him his freedom?"

"If he wants it."

"That's just it. He doesn't. It's up to you."

Sonny nodded vaguely and Kirk urged, "Please think it over. I'm going to take you both away from here soon. Don't worry. Everything is going to be fine."

Then O'Regan led Sonny back to her cell. Through the night she was feverish, sleeping fitfully in her rumpled cotton dress. It seemed morning would never come. She tried to be brave, to remember that Kirk had told her everything would be all right. But she was too ill and scared to do anything but lie there in misery.

When the matron brought her breakfast, Sonny managed to drink the weak coffee, but eat she could not. About 10 o'clock, O'Regan came for her again. "This way," he said not unkindly. Her abject misery was so patent, he added: "You're all right, kid. You've got a swell husband."

She was in the office again. Kirk was there with his attorney.

"Tom won't agree to anything until he sees you," Kirk began without any preface, then, turning to

The attorney interposed: "In that case, we'd better not interfere any more," he said.

Kirk gave up then, but declared after a pause: "We're going home. That is the only condition on which I accept this situation. You're to come with me. I brought Jules. He'll drive the trailer home."

"But we want to go on with our honeymoon."

Kirk stood firm. "You heard me, Tom. You and your wife are going home."

Tom finally agreed to fly back with Kirk.

"I told you everything would be all right, Sonny," Tom said jubilantly, as they drove to the airport.

O'Regan led Sonny back to her cell.

O'Regan, asked, "Will you bring him in, Officer?"

Soon a strange Tom, unshaven and untidy, appeared. He made a dive for Sonny; she clung to him desperately. Over Sonny's flaming red head, Tom faced the two men with, "That's your answer. You're not going to take her away from me. We know our own minds and you can't do a thing."

Kirk held up his hand. "You haven't a lot of money, Tom, and Dad means what he says."

"O. K. with us. Sonny's not used to any and I can get along. We've got our trailer."

Kirk shrugged his shoulders, but he came over and put his hand on his brother's arm. "You know how I feel, Tom."

"Sure, you're O. K. It was Dad and Mother!"

"You mustn't blame them, Tom. They love you."

"Sure, but they'll love Sonny when they know her. And besides, Dad has always wanted a grandchild."

Kirk's face was white.

"Is that the truth?"

"Certainly!"

Sonny's face was buried on Tom's shoulder as he talked.

"What about my foster father?" Sonny asked.

"Oh, he made a row, Kirk says, but, when he learned you were married, that was that."

Tom was his old gay self. He had got his way and the world was wonderful again.

"We'll come back in our trailer and go to Montreal as we planned, darling. You'll see!" he promised.

Then suddenly the airport was ahead with the Hollister ship and pilot waiting. But there was still another hurdle. Newspaper photographers were waiting.

Between Kirk and Tom, Sonny made a dash for the ship, but the camera men were quicker.

"Let's have a decent picture!" begged one of them who knew Kirk. "You might just as well get it over with."

"Just one," Kirk said, realizing there was no use arguing.

So that is how the picture of the wind-blown, rumpled girl and the two men appeared in the papers the next day. The stories were to make much of her gingham dress, the little girl from a restaurant who had married millions.

WHAT TO DO IN AN AIR RAID

Official—by the U. S. Office of Civilian Defense

1. KEEP COOL

Above all, keep cool. Don't lose your head.

Do not crowd the streets, avoid chaos, prevent disorder and havoc.

You can fool the enemy. It is easy. If planes come over, stay where you are. Don't phone unnecessarily. The chance you will be hit is small. It is part of the risk we must take to win this war.

Until an alarm, go about your usual business and recreation in the ordinary way.

Think twice before you do anything. Don't believe rumors—spreading false rumors is part of the enemy's technique. Don't let him take you in.

Know your air-raid warning. In general, it is short blasts or rising and falling pitch, on whistles or horns. The "all clear" is a steady tone for 2 minutes. Watch this paper for description of the local signal. (This is subject to change.)

Await official information before taking any action. When the Air Raid Warden comes to your home, do what he tells you. He is for your protection. He is your friend.

He will help you do your part to whip the enemy.

We can do it. We will do it, if we stay calm and cool and strong and alert.

2. STAY HOME

The safest place in an air raid is at home.

If you are away from home, get under cover in the nearest shelter. Avoid crowded places. Stay off the streets.

The enemy wants you to run out into the streets, create a mob, start a panic. Don't do it!

If incendiary bombs fall, play a spray from a garden hose (never a splash or stream) of water on the bomb. Switch to a stream to put out any fire started by the bomb. Switch back to a spray for the bomb. The bomb will burn for about 15 minutes if left alone, only about 2 minutes under a fine water spray. A jet splash, stream or bucket of water will make it explode.

Under raid conditions, keep a bathtub and buckets full of water for the use of the fire department in case water mains are broken.

If you have a soda-and-acid extinguisher (the kind you turn upside down), use it with your finger over the nozzle to make a spray. Don't use the chemical kind (small cylinders of liquid) on bombs. It is all right for ordinary fires.

But above all, keep cool, stay home.

Choose one member of the family to be the home air-raid warden—who will remember all the rules and what to do. Mother makes the best.

3. PUT OUT LIGHTS

Whether or not black-out is ordered, don't show more light than is necessary. If planes come over, put out or cover all lights at once—don't wait for the black-out order. The light that can't be seen will never guide a Jap. Remember a candle light may be seen for miles from the air.

If you have portieres, overdrapes, or curtains, arrange a double thickness over your windows. Blankets will do. If you have heavy black paper, paste it on your windows. Don't crowd or stampede stores to get it, however. You probably have everything you need at home. Be ingenious—improvise.

Should you get an air-raid warning, remember to shut off gas stoves, gas furnaces, and gas pilot lights on both. Bomb explosions may blow them out from blast effect. Gas that collects may be explosive later.

Prepare one room, the one with the least window glass, in the strongest part of your house, for a refuge room. Put food and drinking water in it. Put a sturdy table in it. Put mattresses and chairs in it. Take a magazine or two and a deck of cards into it. Take things like eyeglasses and dentures with you when you go into it. Take toilet facilities, paper, a screen. If you have a portable radio, take that too. Above all, keep calm. Stay at home. Put out lights.

4. LIE DOWN

If bombs start to fall near you, lie down. You will feel the blast least that way, escape fragments or splinters.

The safest place is under a good stout table—the stronger the legs the better.

A mattress under a table combines comfort with safety.

The enemy may use explosive bombs or incendiary bombs, or both. If incendiaries are used, it's more important to deal with them than to be safe from blast. So defeat the incendiary with a spray (never a splash or stream) of water, then go back to safety under a table in a refuge room.

Most raids will likely be over in your immediate neighborhood in a short time. However, stay under cover till the "all clear" is sounded.

Know your raid alarms. Know the "all clear". Official news of these will come to you from your Air Raid Warden. Don't believe rumors. Watch this paper for air raid alarm description. Ask the warden when he comes.

Should your house be hit, keep cool. Answer tappings from rescue crews if you are trapped. (You most likely won't be either hit or trapped, but if you are, you can depend on rescue squads to go after you). Again—keep cool, and wait. Don't yell after you hear them coming to you, unless they tell you to. Keep cool!

Just keeping cool hurts the enemy more than anything else you can do. Keep calm. Stay at home. Put out lights. Lie down.

5. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS

Glass shatters easily, so stay away from windows.

Don't go to windows and look out, in an air raid. It is a dangerous thing, and helps the enemy. The Air Raid Warden is out there watching for you. Again we say, get off the streets if planes come over.

At night, there is danger of being caught in blast from explosions.

Antiaircraft fire means falling shrapnel. You are safe from it indoors, away from windows. It's more important to shell a plane than it is to see it from a window.

Stay in your refuge room, away from windows. That is the safest place. Go there at the first alarm; stay there until the "all clear".

Above all, keep calm. Stay home. Put out lights. Lie down. Stay away from windows. Do not say we are repeating; we would rather repeat until we bore you than have you forget.

You can do all those things without any special equipment other than what you have now in your home.

You can help lick the Japs, with your bare hands, if you will do just those few, simple things.

Be a good fellow and follow instructions and keep well. Do not be a wise guy and get hurt.

6. YOU CAN HELP

Strong, capable, calm people are needed to man the volunteer services. If you want to help, there are lots of opportunities.

If you know first aid, and have a certificate, there is an immediate job for you. If you are a veteran, or a former volunteer or regular fireman, or policeman, there is work for you. If you have no special skills but are strong and husky, there is a job for you in rescue squads, road-repair units, or demolition and clearance squads. If you have and can drive a car, you may be needed for drivers' corps. Older Boy and Girl Scouts over 15 can help as messengers. Both men and women are needed.

Here's how to get started:

If there's a Civilian Defense Volunteer Office in your community, call there and ask where to report. If not, call your local Defense Council or Committee, or the Chamber of Commerce. Phone and ask where to report, rather than going in person.

There are people needed for—

Air Raid Wardens (men and women).
Auxiliary Firemen (men).
Auxiliary Police (men and women).
Fire Watchers (men and women).
Nurses' Aides (trained women).
Emergency Medical Forces (men and women with Red Cross First Aid Certificates).
Rescue Squads (men).
Road Repair Units (strong, husky men).
Demolition and Clearance Squads (strong, husky men).
Electrical Repair units (trained electricians).
Decontamination Squads (strong men and women).
Emergency Food and Housing Units (women who can cook and serve).

Above all, keep cool. Stay home. Put out lights. Lie down. Stay away from windows. You can help!

Production Shows Big Increase at Fleetwings

productive factory floor space exclusive of new plant, 440%.

"Even with the tremendous expansion that has been thrust upon the airplane industry, I seriously doubt that any aviation company has expanded more, proportionately, or with fewer paralyzing growing pains than has Fleetwings.

"In 1940 I told you that during 1941 we would have to treble our efforts and results. We have more than done this.

"For 1942 and until the end of the emergency, I tell you that our efforts and results must be doubled and doubled again, and maintained at the very maximum it is humanly possible for every one of us, working as a team, to attain.

"I give you these percentages as I want you to know what we as members of the Fleetwings team have accomplished. We have a right to take pride in this accomplishment. Our accomplishment of 1941 confirms that we will continue to forge ahead and carry even heavier responsibilities in the defense of civilization than we have in the past.

"The record that Fleetwings has made, and, I am sure, is going to continue to make, is one of which you can justly be proud. Neither one man nor any small group of men is wholly responsible. It has been done by the cumulative efforts of everyone connected with the Company—that is, Fleetwings' spirit. The degree to which this spirit permeates the producers of this nation will be the measure of the time and the cost in lives necessary to insure the continuation of our and our children's freedom."

Besides building stainless-steel basic training planes for the Army, Fleetwings is furnishing parts for most of the leading military airplanes of the country, including Flying Fortresses, Douglas A-20 Attack Bombers, Vought-Sikorsky observation planes and shipboard fighters, Republic "Lancers" and "Thunderbolts," Brewster Buffaloes, and Vultee observation airplanes.

Motorists planning for holiday trips—to visit relatives and friends on the big day, or for shopping expeditions—are advised to look to their car equipment. Stop at Coffey's Service Station, 1709 Faragut avenue, or at Fred's Amoco Station, Market street and the highway, and have gas, oil, batteries and tires checked. A car should be in perfect condition, and fully equipped if the motorist is to have satisfaction and pleasure from the journey. Play safe!

WAR AND TELEPHONE SERVICE

Prior to "Pearl Harbor" your telephone company was handling a record-breaking traffic.

Since then the Bell System Traffic has jumped—as much as 30 per cent and 40 per cent on some of the important Long Distance routes.

Switchboards and circuits which were taxed to the limit are at many points pretty much swamped—day and evening—with no let-up in sight.

Particular difficulty is experienced with calls to and from Washington, the Pacific coast, Atlanta and New York.

The heavy reliance on our service placed by Government, the Army, the Navy, Civilian Defense and Defense Industry is known to everyone.

The welfare of the whole people depends on those agencies.

Your own telephone service cannot stand up if the armed forces and the industries which make their supplies fail to secure all the telephone service they need, when they need it. Already they suffer delays.

This company's duty to civilian users is to press for the observance of these requirements:

- 1 Confine your telephone usage, particularly Long Distance, to absolutely essential calls.
- 2 End your telephone conversations as quickly as possible.
- 3 Don't use your telephone during or immediately after alarms.
- 4 On Christmas Eve and Christmas Day confine your telephone greetings to the absolute minimum, and make way for the armed forces.

Noon-Tide Ceremony Unites Miss Greenwood and Lt. Peake

An attractive wedding, solemnized at 12 o'clock noon, today, in St. James' Episcopal Church, Wood and Walnut streets, united Miss Evelyn Ada Greenwood, of Edgely, and Lt. Douglas Carleton Peake, of Florence, N. J.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Charles Greenwood, of Edgely; and Lt. Peake is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas John Peake, of "Iron House," Florence.

An organ recital of appropriate selections was provided by Miss Marcia E. Pettit, of Beverly, N. J.; and the nuptial ceremony was performed by the Rev. George E. Boswell, rector of St. James' Church.

Miss Dorothy O'Dea, of Philadelphia, was the bride's only attendant; and serving Lt. Peake as best man was Lt. Frederick Morris Holzbaun, Bordentown, N. J.

The former Miss Greenwood was attractively costumed. She wore a street-length dress of egg-shell beige sheer crepe, the belted-model having V-neckline, three-quarter sleeves, and had trim of self-material. Her brown hat was trimmed with beaver to match her fur coat. Pumps and hand-bags were of brown doe-skin; she wore white gloves, and a corsage of sweet-heart roses and forget-me-nots.

Miss O'Dea selected a dress of a soft shade of blue. Her hat and accessories were black; and her corsage was composed of camellias.

For the ceremony, Mrs. Greenwood, mother of the bride, chose a dress of light sapphire blue, feather hat of matching shade with trim of black, black slippers and bag, white gloves, and her corsage was of gardenias. Mrs. Peake, mother of the groom, wore a dress of green, hat of black felt, black slippers and bag, white gloves, and a corsage of lavender violets.

Members of the immediate families were entertained at a small reception at the home of the groom's parents, immediately following the ceremony.

The bride is a graduate of Bristol high school; and of Rider College, Trenton, N. J. Lt. Peake is a graduate of Bordentown Military Institute, Bordentown, N. J.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

It's the year for dual roles on the screen.

Nelson Eddy plays a dual part in "The Chocolate Soldier," in which he stars with the noted concert and operatic singer, Rise Stevens, making her screen debut in the new musical at the Grand Theatre.

Eddy's dual role, however, is like none other in that he plays not only himself but also his own love rival, disguised as a Russian. He hit upon this ruse when, in the course of the musical plot, his wife, played by Miss Stevens, mischievously invents certain romantic indiscretions in her past, with the result that she brings about an explosion of jealousy upon the part of her suspicious husband.

BRISTOL THEATRE

"The New Adventures of Tarzan" is now at the Ritz.

"Two Latins From Manhattan," featuring Joan Davis and Jinx Falkenburg, is the other picture of a sensational double feature.

Tropical magic, catchy Cuban rhythms, warm-blooded senoritas, dark-eyed romances are neatly combined in the story of "Week End In Havana," which opens Sunday at the Bristol Theatre.

RITZ THEATRE

Sweeping drama, brilliant acting and direction and an unforgettable love story make "So Ends Our Night," which was unraveled yesterday at the Ritz Theatre, one of the greatest and most stirring motion pictures to emerge from Hollywood this season. Based on the serial, "Flotsam," this new picture was received with enthusiasm.

Xmas Seiting Arranged For Program of Club

In paying tribute to their contributions to literature, science, history, astronomy, invention, etc., Miss Hark listed a long line of outstanding individuals noted for their great works, and who sprung from the Pennsylvania Dutch. Among them were Francis Pastorius, David Rittenhouse, Herbert Hoover, General Anthony Wayne, General Pershing, John Wanamaker, Jane Adams, Amelia Earhart, approximately one-half of the governors of Pennsylvania, and a host of others. She also mentioned many "firsts" for which the Pennsylvania Dutch are noted, the first scientific work in this country, the first astronomer to locate here; establishment of the first water works and of the first boarding school for girls, these two being at Bethlehem; first normal school in the country. From this group also came the first continental treasurer, Michael Hilegas. The leading part the group played in making this country at the time of the Revolution was given much consideration also.

Turning attention to their love of good food, their knowledge of its preparation, and their ability to consume it in quantities, Miss Hark recalled some outstanding Pennsylvania Dutch dishes, many of which have become popular throughout the country such as shoe-fly pie, scrapple, sour kraut, the much loved pretzel, and others. As one Dutch woman puts it: "We live common, but good." The seven sweets and seven sours were always the rule for every table in the early days, and that rule a Pennsylvania Dutch housewife would never think of breaking. Their generosity was mentioned, "but it is not a careless generosity," added the speaker, who continued by telling of their thrifty habits; their frankness, and their outer calm.

A number of favorite stories regarding the group pleased Miss Hark's hearers; as well as tales of their superstitions. She reminded, however, that they are no more superstitious than other groups.

Some "hex" signs were exhibited by the guest speaker. Also on display were a number of Pennsylvania Dutch items taken to the meeting by Mrs. Wallace Windus.

Mrs. Martin announced that the club recently received a punch bowl and ladle, willed to the group by the late Mrs. William Doran. The president also announced the gift of and displayed for the club a silver bowl and tray, a gift of Dr. J. Fred Wagner, in memory of Mrs. Wagner.

Mrs. Martin, in considering the coming of war to this country since the last meeting of the club, reminded the members, that "It is the duty of women to uphold the morale of the home and community. Calmness is an essential if we want to have anything done well. Do this, so we can look forward to a Christmas when we can witness 'Peace on earth, good will to men'."

Hostesses were Mrs. Roy Tracy and Mrs. Armand V. Morris. The committee named for the day included; Mrs. Thomas G. Hawkes, Mrs. S. Phillips Landreth, Mrs. Lester D. Thorne, Mrs. Walter Fagan, Mrs. Henry E. Ancker, Mrs. Walter Pitkonka, Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Mrs. Warren P. Snyder, Mrs. Clarence Moyer, Miss Mary J. Haines, Mrs. George W. Bruden, Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. Ernest Lawrence, Mrs. Franklin Wallin.

Employees Donate Day's Pay To Uncle Sam

of the employees, he, without hesitation, said, "Fine, fellows, the firm will match your donation dollar for dollar, to double the kitty," and thus will be expressed, in most emphatic and convincing terms, the loyalty and sincerity of purpose of this town's only defense plant.

Yes, the Royal Pants Company is a defense plant. Throughout the entire year the plant has been engaged 100% in the production of trousers for the Army and for the Navy. Not only has the plant been making trousers for the armed forces, but it has likewise been making records in the continuity of production at a steady and regular rate.

The plant is not big as Defense plants go, but in its field it ranks tops in the production of army pants. Weekly from this plant go out 25,000 pairs of Army pants and 8,000 pairs for the Navy.

Nor was the spirit of Santa Claus monopolized by the employees of the plant. Yesterday, every employee received double pay, an extra week's wages for all workers. In addition, Mr. Neinken included in the Christmas pay envelopes of all employees a Defense Savings stamp booklet containing $12 in Savings stamps.

The order for more than $7,000 in Savings Stamps for this firm, together with the increased demand brought on by the war, caught the local Post Office short, and on Tuesday, Postmaster Lester Trauger made a hurried trip to Philadelphia to replenish his rapidly dwindling stock. On Wednesday, several employees of the Royal Pants Company offices assisted postal employees here in pasting the Savings Stamps in the more than 575 booklets. The total disbursed by the firm in Christmas gifts exceeds $33,000.

Mr. Neinken has announced that the plant will be closed Thursday, Friday and Saturday of next week, in observance of Christmas. "We have lots of work," he said, "but my employees have worked so hard and loyally during the entire year that they deserve every minute of the proposed holiday."

Tells of Dedication Of 8 Chapels at Camp

on the post at Fort Custer. All eight of them were dedicated to the sole purpose of a house of worship.

Bishop Raymond J. Wade, of the Michigan Methodist Episcopal Conference, performed the stupendous task of speaking the dedication ceremony at all of the chapels, accompanied by Colonel Phinney, who presented each of the chapels to the chaplains of that particular regiment.

In the Second Infantry Chapel, the service was held under the direction of Andrew G. Solla, senior chaplain, the Rev. Edward Montgomery, D. D., moderator of the Presbyterian Synod of Michigan preached the sermon on the subject, "Spiritual Defense." A solo was presented by Private Albert Basso, "Bless This House" accompanied by Chaplain Richard I. Knudsen. The Second Infantry Band was present to play a prelude and postlude for the service. Flowers were presented for the occasion by the Presbyterian Church of Battle Creek, and ferns were banked across the front of the altar, being presented by Salvation Army, U. S. O., under the able guidance of Major Gates.

The following prayer was given by Bishop Wade: "O Lord God, Almighty and most merciful, Whom the heaven, even the heaven of heavens cannot contain, much less temples built with hands, but who also dwellest with men, and delightest Thyself in the assemblage of Thy People; cleanse our hearts, we beseech Thee, from all evil, thought and desire, and vouchsafe Thy divine presence and blessing, that both those things may please thee which we do at this present, and also that we may at length obtain Thy favor with life everlasting in Thy Heavenly Kingdom. Amen.

The chapel was then dedicated as a reminder of the constant presence of God with His children; as a place of worship for men of every faith; as a place of prayer and meditation, as an incentive to right living and unselfish service.

Soviets Advancing On Various Sectors of Russian Front

British quarters remarked that the Russian communiques recently have been mentioning huge captures of war equipment but that they rarely speak of prisoners.

This was regarded as significant in view of Col. Gen. Konev's statement yesterday to the newspaper Pravda that "we are now engaged . . . in the extermination of Germans."

An Explanation of Vital Importance to Every American

WHY YOU CANNOT BUY TIRES TODAY

The Japanese attack vitally threatens rubber supplies needed by our armed forces. Our government has wisely taken prompt steps to restrict consumption of rubber. Until January 4th, 1942, no new automobile tires will be sold for civilian use. Meanwhile, a rationing plan is being developed. Our rubber supply must be distributed where it will do the most good for all.

HERE ARE THE ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS ABOUT RUBBER:

Question: Is there a severe crude rubber shortage?

Answer: No. Not at present. Thanks to the foresight of your government and the co-operation of the rubber industry, our country has been able to build up the greatest "stockpile" of crude rubber in our history. Much additional crude rubber is in transit. But defense needs will greatly increase the normal rate of consumption. Therefore, it is imperative that this reserve be used for vital needs only.

Question: Can we import more crude rubber?

Answer: 97% of all crude rubber comes from the Far East. How much crude rubber we are able to import depends upon the progress of the war.

Question: Is there another source of crude rubber in this country?

Answer: Guayule, a rubber-yielding shrub found in Mexico and grown on a limited scale in the southwestern United States, is a definite possibility for increasing our supply. B. F. Goodrich has been the leader in research with guayule, promoting the greater development and use of rubber obtained from this source.

Question: Can we make our own rubber?

Answer: Yes. Additional insurance against a critical shortage is the small stand-by synthetic rubber industry which has been established since June 1940 when The B. F. Goodrich Company offered for sale to the American public for the first time tires made with Ameripol, its synthetic rubber. Several thousand of these tires have been sold to the public, including over 200 of our leading corporations. Reports indicate that the performance of these tires has been equal to those made of natural rubber.

Question: How much do our armed forces depend upon rubber?

Answer: The army and navy need it vitally. Here are just a few of the important articles which B. F. Goodrich is either making or helping to make:

Rubber tracks	Insulation
Fuel hose	Life preservers
Airplane brakes	Rubber footwear
Fire hose	Electric batteries
Airplane tires	Communication lines
Surgical supplies	Gas masks
Gun carriage mounts	Scout cars

Tires for every type of mechanized equipment.

Question: What can I do if my tires are worn?

Answer: Within a few days, our dealers will have the government's plan for distributing new tires. We suggest that you call on your B. F. Goodrich Silvertown dealer after January 4th for information. If it is impossible for you to get new tires, you will be shown how your present tires can be retreaded to give additional mileage.

Question: What can I do to help?

Answer: Get the most mileage out of your present tires:

Maintain recommended or rated air pressures at all times.

Do not run tire constantly on the same wheel; instead shift your tires from wheel to wheel every few thousand miles to insure even wear.

Don't take corners at high speed; that wears tires faster than anything else.

Never slam on your brakes—except to prevent an accident.

Have your wheel alignment, front and rear, checked regularly.

Don't drive too fast—for high speed heats up tires and hastens deterioration and wear.

Start up gently, do not spin your wheels and grind off rubber.

Do not bump into curbs—no tire will withstand such abuse.

ABOVE ALL, do not use your car unnecessarily. Decide intelligently whether the trip you want to take is really worthwhile in the face of this situation. Take turns riding in neighbors' cars. Use buses and other local or national transportation facilities wherever possible.

PAUL C. VOLTZ

DISTRIBUTOR FOR

THE B. F. GOODRICH COMPANY AND TEXACO PETROLEUM PRODUCTS

"Every extra mile you get out of your tires is a mile your country gains!"

We are giving our wholehearted support to the government. We feel sure that our employees, our dealers, and our millions of customers will cheerfully make the needed sacrifices. We know every American will join us in saying—"We'll see it through."

*No new tire of any type or size can be sold until Jan. 4, 1942, with exception of an A-3 preference rating or higher.
